

For Immediate Release

Seattle-Based Public Relations Agency Opens Portland Office

Bilepo Scott, Owen Media vice president, named managing director of Portland operations

PORTLAND, Ore. — April 3, 2006 – Owen Media, Inc, a public relations and marketing agency specializing in technology, today announced that the company recently opened an office location in Portland, Oregon. The agency also named Bilepo Scott, Owen Media vice president, as managing director of Portland operations.

“Owen Media is responding to client demand for a larger team, closer to the companies we serve,” said Bilepo Scott, Owen Media vice president. “We have served clients in Portland since 1997 but this is our first staffed office. None of us will miss the 166-mile drive on Interstate 5.”

Scott has served Owen Media’s clients on site in Oregon since 2003. She joined Owen Media in 2000 after serving as account manager at J. Walter Thompson and previously supporting Senator Patty Murray, D-WA in the U.S. Senate. At Owen Media Scott leads account services for major silicon and computer manufacturing clients based in the U.S., Japan, France and Germany.

“No one is better suited to bring our culture of collaboration and client service to Portland than Bilepo,” said Paul Owen, agency principal. “Bilepo helped shape the agency’s philosophy and structure since the early days and she understands that we measure success by the depth and the duration of our client engagements.”

Owen Media specializes in high technology clients from Fortune 100 companies to start-ups, as well as trade associations and industry alliances focused around the tech industry. The agency has four Portland-based clients in the silicon, server hardware and electronics design industries. Owen Media’s Portland office is located in downtown Portland in the North Park blocks at 725 NW Flanders, Suite 203. The phone number is 503-222-2545.

About Owen Media

Owen Media was established in 1997 by former Oregonian, Paul Owen. Based in Seattle, the agency provides public relations and marketing consulting to high-tech companies. Owen Media’s clients include Lexmark, Corbis, ClearSpeed, the InfiniBand Trade Association, Childhaven, Mandriva and other high technology clients and trade associations. To learn more about Owen Media, visit the company web site at www.owenmedia.com.

###